ROOSEVELT DAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Hasbrouck, Who Was Roosevelt's Classmate, Enthusiastic in Words of Place Alongside Him in Hearts of Americans.

Thursday afternoon at Kingston High School auditorium a very impressive service was held in commemoration of Theodore Roosevelt's birth. In the absence of Mayor Dr. Seelye acted as chairman. The Rev. Dr. Ellis delivered the invocation. After this Charles Seelye and Richard Whiston gave readings from Roosevelt. Dr. Seelye then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck. After a few introductory remarks, Judge Hasbrouck made the following address:

My contribution to the occasion is not a speech, but a story. I have no words which would be at all equal to the occasion. However much to the mayor and Dr. Seelye may be for nominating me to office for the occasion, they certainly will merit the praise of their fellow citizens in endeavoring to suitably memorialize the anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt. An old man the other night at a meeting of the State Historical Association was asked to speak simply because when he was a boy he knew John Brown of Ossining. Perhaps I have been nominated for a similar reason to say a few words about Roosevelt. I first knew Roosevelt when we were fellow pupils at the Columbia Law School. He had just come back from Europe and was ready to enter. We were studying real estate and that great lawyer, lawyer and citizen, John F. Dillon, was our teacher. In class one day he said to Roosevelt, "Mr. Roosevelt, will you please tell us the difference between a remainder and a contingent remainder?" Roosevelt replied, "Ah, ah, that part, ah, ah, of a freehold estate, ah, ah, of the whole class took up the 'ahing,' imitating what they thought was the English way of speaking but Roosevelt went on 'which remains, ah, ah, when a lesser estate is carved out.' It is not necessary to pursue the definition. Many of his fellow students like Robert H. McCarter, Henry W. Goodrich, Howard Hayes, Henry Taft and myself, laughed. Not at the substance of the recitation but the manner. Well, Roosevelt left the law school to attend the state legislature to which he was elected and left the legislature behind him and they have seen there ever since. He sat in the legislature of 1882, 3 and 4. He was a candidate for speaker in 1884, and though I was a member of that assembly I did not support him solely because of the prejudices I had conceived against him because of his speaking the English. Imagine my surprise when I heard him speak in the assembly to find he had abandoned all signs of linguistic cleavage in the English way.

He said in a debate on certain reform measures that the offices of sheriff and county clerk on a salary, when he was being heckled by Tammany representatives who were constantly rising 'What is the matter with you fellows? You all act like this morning as if you had swallowed spring mattresses last night.' This he did in his most persuasive, pleasant, Yankee English. I was so terribly sorry that I had not voted for him and humiliated that I had allowed myself to judge a man by the manner in which he used English. While I like the tones of speech of my fellow Kingstonians, and New Yorkers better than any other in the world, I am not so deaf as not to know that English spoken in the fogs of the mother country is quite the most beautiful language in the world. In the fulness of his power Roosevelt became the most popular of America's orators and shed upon his countrymen the glory of an utterance and a pen so facile that they have related the world.

But we should win scant praise from the shades of his great soul if we were content to count the milestones of his life and recount his deeds of prowess in the hunt, of glory in the field of battle, of glory in the civic paths of peace. He would be saying to us watchmen what the knights 'tis night here. When his sons had all gone to war he knew it was night upon the world. How dark it was to him we shall never know. Some of his sons came back wounded but Quentin never came. There probably was never a time in the history of the world when there was so much need of a prophet as the present time.

The world is like Nebuchadnezzar needing a Daniel to guide while it trends the abysmal slough of despond in which the great war has left us. Who can doubt that as Roosevelt shone in calling his countrymen to this cause of freedom in the world before the war that he would have been replete in carrying a torch which would light the darkness of the present day. Thrones have tottered; republics created after the war have fallen and in their places or guiding therein are dictators in Russia, Turkey, Germany, Italy and Spain. In them there is no law but the will of absolutism and that is no other thing than that of our great country.

Roosevelt inspired taught his countrymen the great value of a square deal for the people the great value of

METHODIST DIST. CONFERENCE HELD

Evangelism Keynote at Windham Where 200 Delegates Have Enthusiastic Meeting—Return of Dr. Grinton Is Asked.

Those who passed through Windham, N. Y., on Tuesday, October the twenty-third, could easily discern that an event of unusual importance was taking place at the Methodist Episcopal Church at that place. The grounds about the church and parsonage were packed with the cars of a crowd of over two hundred delegates who had come from all over the district to be in attendance at the fifty-sixth annual session of the Kingston District Conference. Added to these were those who came to enjoy the benefits of the meeting.

It was a great testimonial to the ability of the energetic district superintendent as a program builder; and the people were not disappointed. It was also an indication as to what is occupying the central place in the thought of both ministers and laymen on this district. The keynote of the entire program was evangelism.

The first message of the morning was a very able exposition of the sixth chapter of John's Gospel, by the Rev. Elmer A. Dent, D. D. of New York City.

The Love Feast conducted by the Rev. F. H. Carpenter evidenced the fact that the "Faith of Our Fathers," still lives in Kingston District by the many earnest testimonies which were given.

The eloquent and inspiring sermon preached by the Rev. F. B. Harris of New York City, from John 12:21, "Sirs, We Would See Jesus," pictured the Master as the changeless, the eternal, and the unifying Christ, the need of all men and all conditions of life.

The general topic of the afternoon, "Wanted a Revival of Religion," participated in by both ministers and laymen, proved very helpful and interesting, and showed how near this essential part of church work is to the heart of the Christian people of this whole district.

The unique and forceful message of Dr. A. S. Kavanaugh of Brooklyn on "The Minister's Twin Sins," was a very fitting message for the closing of a day of inspiration and Christian fellowship.

The Rev. F. H. Carpenter conducted a consecration service at the close, to which there was an almost unanimous expression of the desire of those present to give their lives to the service of Jesus Christ in the great work of world redemption.

In addition to the regular program, a number of items of interest were taken up. Among these was the sending of a message of love and good wishes to Bishop Luther B. Wilson, in which was an expression of appreciation of the excellent service of Dr. Grinton as district superintendent, and the request for his continuance in office.

The district conference board of examiners recommended for admission on trial in the annual conference, E. E. Kenn, Arthur Jones, Frank P. Venable, Herbert M. Kincaid; and reaffirmed the recommendations of William R. Peckham and C. W. Smith which were made last year. They also recommended C. W. Smith for deacon's orders, Samuel A. McCormack of the Irish Methodist Conference presented credentials from the Irish conference; his recommendation for transfer was approved for full membership in the annual conference.

Twenty-four requests for renewal of license were granted, and a new license issued to Leo Bertrand Francisco of Shavertown, N. Y.

Too much can not be said of the fine hospitality extended to the conference by the pastor and people of the Methodist Episcopal church, and others of the community who helped to make this one of the greatest conferences ever held on the Kingston District.

WEST POINT EXAMINATION HELD HERE TODAY

A civil service examination for designation to a cadetship in the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, under a call of Congressman Charles B. Ward for this congressional district, was held at the supervisors' room in the court house, today. There were several young men who took the examination, from different parts of the congressional district. Harry LeRoy of the Kingston post office was in charge, representing the Federal civil service board, he being assisted by Robert E. Carpenter also of the post office.

A Drop in Apples.

This morning a big auto truck loaded with apples for shipment by boat to New York passed through lower Broadway on the way to the Central Hudson Line and as the truck was about to turn into Ferry street one of the loaded barrels was jounced off the truck and its contents scattered on the brick pavement. Before the barrel and its contents were salvaged a number of residents were enjoying apples.

Marbletown Farm Conveyed.

Robert Spindler of LeFevre Falls has conveyed to Daniel E. Smiley a farm in the town of Marbletown abutting on the Lake Mohawk property, also a residence property in the town of Rosendale to John Kohlmann of Brooklyn, who will make it his summer home. Mr. Spindler has purchased the Anton Schmidt residence property in Stone Ridge.

CAPTAIN ROOSA SUES TO RECOVER

Wurts Street Property He Says He Deeded to Woman He Thought Was His Wife on Her Promise to Deed It Back—Is Informed Now She Has Not Secured Divorce From First Husband.

Capt. Frank W. Roosa of this city, who runs a slight-sewing yacht around New York harbor, has brought an action in supreme court against Margaret Roosa, through his attorney, Frank W. Brooks, for a re-conveyance of the residence property at 67 Wurts street, being the southwest corner of Spring street. The summons has been filed with the Ulster county clerk and plaintiff in his complaint alleges that prior to November 14, 1919, he was the owner and in possession of the said property, a description of which is given, and that on November 14, 1919, he, the plaintiff, made and executed a deed and delivered to defendant a deed of conveyance of said property which was duly recorded in the Ulster county clerk's office; that said deed was executed and delivered by plaintiff to defendant in the belief that plaintiff and defendant were man and wife, legally married, and upon the belief and understanding on the part of plaintiff that the defendant was free to marry the plaintiff and had the legal right so to do; that said belief was because of representations and statements made by defendant to that effect, and upon such representation and statement plaintiff relied. It is further alleged that prior to November 14, 1919, an action had been begun against plaintiff based upon no legal foundation, and the defendant earnestly solicited and requested the plaintiff to convey the said property to defendant so that she, defendant's wife, as she represented herself to be, would be protected, and such conveyance was made by the plaintiff to the defendant upon the expressed understanding and agreement between them that as soon as the litigation referred to pending against the plaintiff was disposed of, that then and in that event the defendant would convey the said premises to the plaintiff. The said litigation against plaintiff has been discontinued, and thereupon the plaintiff requested defendant a reconveyance to him of the said premises, which defendant refused to do. Plaintiff contends that upon information and belief that defendant is not, and never was, the lawful wife of this plaintiff; that plaintiff is informed and believes defendant had been previously married in the Dominion of Canada; upon information and belief that at the time of the said marriage of plaintiff and defendant the defendant's lawful husband was alive, and that no decree of divorce had been granted by the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, or by any other court of competent jurisdiction. That since the making and delivery of said deed the defendant has occupied the same, and has had the sole use of the same, to the exclusion of the plaintiff. Wherein plaintiff demands said deed of conveyance of said lands be adjudged to be fraudulent and void; that it be directed to be surrendered and cancelled, and that the record thereof be cancelled; that the plaintiff be adjudged to be the owner of said premises in fee; that the defendant be directed to perform her agreement to reconvey said premises to the plaintiff, and that plaintiff have such other and further relief as may be just, with the costs of this action.

There are few men in Kingston and Ulster county who are better or more favorably known than Albert H. Cook, the Republican candidate for mayor this fall. Mr. Cook was born in Rensselaer and has lived in Kingston all his life. Since attaining manhood he has been an active member of the Republican party and has served the city as a member of the common council from the Second ward. He has also served one term as coroner and was county treasurer for two terms.

When a boy Mr. Cook attended the schools of the city and when a young man entered the employ of the old Powell, Smith & Co. cigar factory when its plant was located on Prince street. With the gradual growth of the business it was found necessary to expand and the present modern factory building at Broadway and Pine Grove avenue, now owned by the American Cigar Company, was erected.

When the factory was taken over by the American Cigar Company, Mr. Cook continued with it and for several years was engaged in organizing new factories for the company. Owing to illness a number of his family Mr. Cook found it necessary to resign his position and return to Kingston to the charge of their interests in the hotel business, which he successfully managed for several years until elected county treasurer.

When Mr. Cook assumed his duties as county treasurer he retired from active management of the hotel and devoted his entire time to his official duties, and since then the hotel has been under the able management of his brother, Nathan J. Cook. Since retiring from the office of county treasurer, Mr. Cook has devoted his time to farming interests, but has always taken an active interest in the business and political life of Kingston. He resides at No. 127 Albany avenue.

During the many years that Mr. Cook has been interested in the affairs of Kingston and Ulster county he has become widely known as a man whose word could be depended upon, and whose judgment was often sought in business affairs.

When Mr. Cook was old enough to cast his first vote he affiliated himself with the Republican party in whose principles and policies he is a firm believer, and it was due to his active interest in political affairs that he was elected alderman of the old Second ward, which at that time also included the present Third ward, and served the city for two terms as a member of the common council. Later he also served the county as coroner for one term, and in 1908 he assumed the office of county treasurer, which he successfully filled for two terms.

As a county official he brought to the office the business ability that had made him successful in private life, and in those years that he served as county treasurer he came in active contact with the residents of both city and county.

This year the Republican party realizing that a man was needed at the head of the city's affairs who was qualified by his many years of active participation in the political and business life of the city to carry on the progressive policies inaugurated under Republican administration selected Mr. Cook as the man who was fitted to serve the city as its administrative head.

Mr. Cook is a man of pleasing personality, of sound business judgment, and thoroughly qualified to serve the city as mayor.

ROOSEVELT DAY WIDELY OBSERVED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 27.—While the nation and world today paid homage to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt, special honors were his here in the city of his birth.

In the modest brick house in East 20th street, where the great president was born 65 years ago today, hundreds passed in and out and it was thronged in the afternoon with a crowd that overflowed into the street when it was formally dedicated by the Women's Roosevelt Memorial Association, which restored and filled it with relics of jovable "T. R."

There came to do him honor some whom he favored most in life. There was Gifford Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania, James R. Garfield, his secretary of the interior, Elihu Root, Bishop William T. Manning, and scores of others. Messages from President Coolidge and General Leonard Wood were read at the dedication exercises.

Down in the Hudson river, riding proudly at anchor, were the great ships of the American Navy—the pride of Roosevelt's navy—throughout life. President Roosevelt built the navy and was over jealous of it in life and the navy has honored him by making his anniversary "Navy Day."

Ceremonies were also held at Oyster Bay where Roosevelt's body rests. A plane from Mitchell Field flew overhead and dropped flowers. Throughout the city many societies held services of their own to honor his memory. Radio stations throughout the land broadcast addresses paying him tribute.

PROF. LEWIS FINDS ONE FAULT

With The Kingston He Is Leaving—That Is That "Wets" Dominant—City To The Detriment Of Character Building In High School.

Forty-six men gathered together in the lecture room of the Old First Dutch Church Thursday evening for a social hour. B. C. Van Ingen presided over the short business meeting, and in a happy way, introduced the speaker, Prof. C. W. Lewis who in an informal and in a most intimate way spoke of his interest in and affection for the city of Kingston and then gave the men an idea of the scope of the work of a high school principal, with a large and most efficient faculty of teachers and a body of nearly a thousand students. With all his love for Kingston the speaker admitted that there were certain social and political conditions the existence and tolerance of which he deplored, not only, but thoroughly abhorred. His business being, character building and training of leadership it sometimes made him boil to think that Kingston should be known as a decidedly "wet" city—to think that this beautiful gateway to the Catskills should be lined up with that discredited industry and social evil that breaks down everything the schools and churches stand for. The representatives of those interests highly organized and loud in their shouting and the steady moral and religious forces unorganized and through fear and timidity and indifference, doing nothing.

This parting message left a deep impression upon Mr. Lewis's audience. He spoke an appreciative word for the boys' work done at the Y. M. C. A. He felt that greater interest should be cultivated in the music in schools and in the city in general. He congratulated the school board on their choice of Professor B. C. Van Ingen as principal. He felt that under the guidance of Dr. Michael with whom he had labored so happily, and Professor Van Ingen, whom he had known for fifteen years, Kingston High School would continue the splendid educational work that is now being advanced.

SECESSIONISTS FAILING ON RHINE

Movement Was Premature, Say Conservative Leaders—Bavarian Tension Renewed—Strike Troubles Grow.

The secessionist movement in Germany appeared today to be breaking down. Joseph Smets, one of the conservative leaders among the Rhineland separatists, told an International News Service correspondent at Bonn that the movement was doomed because it was premature.

The crisis between Berlin and Bavaria, which had been temporarily allayed, was renewed by an attack by the federal state government upon the Bavarian premier.

German strike troubles grew. The Saxon coal fields are tied up, 30,000 men are out in Upper Silesia and work is almost at a standstill in the Ruhr mines and industries.

Quiet has been restored at Hamburg after fighting in which 64 persons were killed.

BRITAIN GETS FRENCH REPLY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Oct. 27.—France's reply to the British proposal for an international reparations conference, received at the foreign office today, was more than half devoted to an exposition of the value of re-establishing cooperation by the United States in European affairs.

It is understood the note contained only two pages. However, it may have been accompanied by a "covering" communication, explaining certain points in the note proper.

The note does not contain any restrictions beyond the declaration made yesterday by the French foreign office that the proposed commission of international experts, in their discussion of Germany's capacity for indemnity payments, must not exceed the provisions of the Versailles treaty.

NAVY DIRIGIBLE IN LONG FLIGHT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 27.—Celebrating "Navy Day" the U. S. Navy dirigible Shenandoah formerly the ZR-1, undertook a 900 mile flight today over Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia and across the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia.

The start was made at 7:15 this morning and the big ship is expected to be back in its hangar here tonight at 10 o'clock.

Its route included Philadelphia, York and Lancaster, Penna.; Hagerstown, Md.; Martinsburg, W. Va.; Winchester, Harrisonburg, Staunton, Lynchburg and Richmond, Va., and Washington.

Thirty-eight officers and men under Commander F. R. McCrary manned the dirigible. It was the first time McCrary has directed a flight, the previous trips having been taken under Commander Ralph D. Weyerbacher, its builder.

SIMPLICITY AT FUNERAL OF STEINMETZ MONDAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 27.—The funeral of Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, electrical genius, who died suddenly yesterday following a brief illness, will be held Monday. It will be private from the Steinmetz home, 108 Wendell avenue. Burial will be in Vale cemetery.

JOHN GOT A HOT RECEPTION

When He Returned To East Kingston From Jail—Is Now In Hospital With Bullet Wound Made By Girl's Gun In Leg.

John Southall, colored, who was discharged from jail last Thursday morning when no bill of indictment was found by the grand jury, returned to his place of habitation and Friday night about midnight the sheriff's office and police headquarters were called on the phone and notified that John had met with a poor reception upon his return to East Kingston.

At the Terry brickyard John was reported to have had an argument with a colored girl, Elinor Goldman, who suddenly drew a gun and fired hitting Southall in the right leg. Fearing further attack John fled and as he left the shack a second shot was started in his direction but John evidently dodged. In the excitement which followed Elinor escaped.

Southall was brought to the Kingston City Hospital by several colored friends. Dr. Fred Snyder made an examination and found a bullet wound in the upper part of the right leg. The bone had been fractured and an X-ray will have to be made to determine the extent of the injury.

The girl who did the shooting is reported to live at the Goldrick yard further up the river from here the shooting took place.

Southall had been in jail for some time having been held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of assault. The complaining witness could not be located and no bill of indictment was found and Southall was consequently discharged and returned to East Kingston.

No warrant has been issued for the arrest of the girl but an investigation is being conducted.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CALLS ON DEER

Billie Brownie loved to go and see the creatures in the zoo. Nothing delighted him more.

So the other day he planned to go and call on some of the members of the Deer family and others in their neighborhood.

First of all he called on the white-tailed deer. Mr. White-Tailed Deer was looking his best with his splendid big antlers looking particularly fine.

"We gentlemen," said Mr. White-Tailed Deer to Billie Brownie, "are the ones who have antlers, though the Miss and Mrs. Hindoo have antlers."

Mr. White-Tailed Deer was a magnificent-looking creature, and he told Billie Brownie something of himself, too, besides what he told him about the antlers.

"We live where there is thick underbrush and plenty of wooded country, and we manage to get through this kind of country even though we have such big antlers," he said.

"At times, during some seasons when we are not at our best, we are at our worst! That sounds easy to understand—that if we're not at our best we're at our worst."

"Well, perhaps we need not be at our worst, and perhaps we are not as bad as I'm making us out to be, but I like to make a good story of it."

"It is only we gentlemen white-tailed deer who act so cross at certain seasons, and then it is that we fight by putting our heads down before us and going straight at our enemies with our great antlers before us."

"We are brave, though, and we love life and we want to be here and we are going to see to it that we stay about. Yes, we are smart!"

"We are one of the earliest known of all members of the deer family in this country. The early, early settlers knew of us, and of course you know that the early settlers were the first arrivals among the people to settle here."

"Yes, I imagined that," smiled Billie Brownie, "but I'm always glad to be told, for I like to hear all the zoo news I can and I'd rather hear a thing twice than not to hear it at all."

"I'm not sure whether you'd speak of the early settlers as a bit of zoo news," said the White-Tailed Deer.

"Oh, I think so," said Billie Brownie, "for you were speaking of your family."

"I'm an Admirer of Yours."

By having been about at that time and that is White-Tailed Deer news at any rate, and you are in the zoo here now.

"Well, glad I interested you," said Mr. White-Tailed Deer.

Then Billie Brownie went to call on the Axis Deer.

"You're the most beautiful of all," Billie Brownie said, as the Axis Deer smiled sweetly.

"It is a lovely compliment, Billie Brownie," the Axis Deer said, "and it delights my heart, yet there are so many wonderful creatures in our great family—oh, so much finer than I could ever hope to be."

"There are splendid elk and moose, great, majestic, handsome animals, so big and so magnificent!"

"There are curious ones, too, as the Mule Deer from the Rocky mountains with his long ears. He is a big creature and much larger than I am."

"Oh," said Billie Brownie, "size isn't everything. I love your soft tan hair and your beautiful white spots, and I like it that though you come from a warmer place than you are now in you do not complain."

"Ah," said the Axis Deer, "but think how kind they are to me. They have built a house for me so that in the winter I can go inside my lovely warm home and not mind the cold."

"I have a beautiful home, I think. It is true that I have never bothered to decorate it much with pictures of my family and window curtains and such things, but it's a cozy, warm home for all that."

"So I could not complain."

"True, they have done that for you, lovely Axis Deer. But at the same time you aren't of the complaining kind. If you were you'd complain and grumble about the weather even though you have a warm home."

"Creatures who complain do so anyway and it shows they have such cross dispositions. Yea, I'm an admirer of yours, lovely, graceful, sweet-natured Axis Deer."

And the Axis Deer looked at Billie Brownie out of his beautiful eyes and smiled that smile only a deer can smile—just a little wee smile, but oh, so full of sweetness!

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY

A most tasty and delicate dish may be prepared from cat's brains. Wash the brains and cook in simmering water to which a tablespoonful of vinegar has been added with salt and a slice each of onion and carrot to add flavor. Drain and chill. When cold cut into cubes and pour over the brains a half cupful of sweet elder or any unsweetened fruit juice; let stand one hour. Peel one fourth of a pound of mushroom caps, slice and saute in butter. Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three tablespoonfuls of flour and when well-blended one cupful of thin cream and one-half cupful of whipped cream. Bring the cream, except the whipped cream, to the boiling point, add the brains and mushrooms, season well with anyone and salt and add the whipped cream just before serving. This is a delicious dish to serve in cream puffs or timbale cases.

Escalloped Apples.—Cut a small loaf of bread into halves, remove the soft part and rub through the hands to crumbs well, melt one-fourth of a cupful of butter and stir lightly with a fork. Cover the bottom of a buttered baking dish with buttered crumbs and cover with two cupfuls of finely sliced apples; sprinkle with sugar, nutmeg, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and the grated rind of half a lemon; repeat, cover with the remaining crumbs and bake forty minutes or until the apples are well done. Serve with sugar and cream.

Baked Haddock With Oyster Stuffing.—Remove skin, head and tail from a four-pound haddock. Bone and keep the fillets in shape. Sprinkle with salt and brush with lemon juice. Lay a fillet in a dripping pan, cover with oysters dipped into seasoned cracker crumbs, cover the oysters with another fillet, brush with egg, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake fifty minutes or until the fish is well cooked. Serve with hollandaise sauce. Any other fatty fish may be used in place of haddock.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S FEET SHOW GREAT NEGLECT.

As the result of a recent foot survey a report has been made by Florence A. Sherman, M. D., of the state education department, who after examining the feet of 225 Albany city school children, states:

Through the courtesy and cooperation of the school authorities and Dr. Clinton P. McCord, health director of schools, Albany, N. Y., I was able to make an examination of the feet of a group of pupils in one of the public schools.

This group included those of the kindergarten, first and second grade—ages from 5 to 8 years. Total number examined, 225.

The shoes and stockings were removed and the following points noted: Manner of walking, condition of feet (relaxed and under weight bearing), type and fit of shoes, fit of stockings, conditions of nails, and the hygiene of the feet.

Analysis of the data obtained from the examination made showed that of the 225 children examined, 68 showed faulty mode of walking, 154 wore faulty shoes (mostly too short), 47 had weak feet, 12 had flat feet, 131 wore too short stockings, 171 showed no care of nails, 169 showed poor foot hygiene.

It will be noted, that quite a percentage of these children showed faulty mode of walking, a large percentage wore shoes and stockings which were too short (as shown by careful examination, evidenced by the pressing back of the toes and beginning corns and callouses). Too short stockings do almost as much harm as too short shoes. Both contribute largely to weak feet and flat feet.

This analysis undoubtedly shows similar conditions existing in other groups in the public schools. So far we have very meager data on the feet of school children. This fact is being realized and effort is being made to obtain fuller information on this important health problem.

Percious interested in this branch of medicine have frequently hazarded a guess as to the existence of foot defects in school children.

These facts show, they have underestimated the mark by a wide margin. Most of the deviations from the normal noted are of a nature which admit of correction and cure, if properly treated, whereas if neglected will tend to cripple and impair the efficiency of those affected.

In view of the present recognition that over two-thirds of all children entering schools have multiple physical defects, (50 per cent foot defects) which are preventable, it is very apparent that health agencies should carry their campaign of health education to parents, with special effort to reach them at the very beginning of parenthood. Prevention is more important than cure.

This is particularly true in connection with the feet. Parents, school and health authorities should cooperate and see to it that all children are afforded opportunity for periodic foot examinations with the view of prevention, as well as the discovery of any possible existing, or threatened foot defects.

In fact, the importance of careful attention to the feet, from infancy up cannot be overestimated, such as attention given to daily foot hygiene, the careful selection of the stockings, the careful conform to normal foot lines and have flexible soles, the care of the nails, and the early use of foot exercises daily.

Careful attention to all these details in early life will mean in the majority of cases foot health. Omitted, will frequently result in faulty mechanism of the entire body and in mental and physical inefficiency. Parents make sure your obligation to your children along foot lines are met.

COLLEGE STUDENT SHOT BY FRESHMAN POLICEMAN

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Champaign, Ill., Oct. 27.—One University of Illinois student is dead today from a shot fired by a classmate, and another is held for questioning in connection with an alleged theft out of which the slaying grew.
Phil Sharp, 22, freshman at the university, fell with a bullet wound from which he died when he refused to halt at the command of J. D. Hill, a motorcycle policeman, also a freshman.
With Sharp, just before his death, was Alexander Schultz, a son of Professor W. T. Schultz, of the department of physics at the university.

Mrs. Charles Thorne died on Thursday afternoon, October 18, at the home of her daughter, Miss Josephine Thorne, at Prince Bay, Staten Island. The burial was on Sunday afternoon at Stamfordville, Dutchess county. Mr. and Mrs. Thorne moved from Dutchess county to New Paltz over twenty years ago, to complete the education of their children. Since Mr. Thorne's death three years ago, Mrs. Thorne has spent the winters with her daughter. Her health has not been good for several years. She leaves two children, Fred, who has a position as teacher at Flushing, L. I., and Josephine, who is a teacher at Prince Bay.

Mary J. Ayers, wife of the late Gilbert Atkins died at the Washington Square Hospital in New York City at eight o'clock Thursday evening, October 18, where she had undergone an operation two weeks before. Mrs. Atkins was born in New Paltz in March 1851 and was one of four children, the last member of her family. Her sister, Mrs. Deyo, having died earlier in the year, Mr. Atkins died over thirty years ago in New Paltz and nineteen years ago Mrs. Atkins went to New York with her sons and daughter and lived there for ten years until they moved to Highland nine years ago. The funeral services were held at her late home at Highland at half past two on Sunday afternoon and were in charge of the Rev. W. A. Dutton of the Presbyterian Church of which Mrs. Atkins was member and regular attendant. The burial was at New Paltz. She is survived by three sons, Deyo Atkins of New Paltz, Chester and Allen and one daughter, Effie, of Highland.

HOPE TO SOLVE PAIGE MYSTERY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Mystery which has enveloped the disappearance of eight-year old Esther Paige, of Dover Plains, N. Y., missing since June 13, 1922, may soon be solved.

Authorities here today declared they had evidence the child was murdered. A report reached police today that a black and white checked coat, known to have been worn by the child, had been found near a lonely mountain cabin by Maunah Cleveland, millionaire deputy sheriff of Dover Plains. Cleveland has devoted his time to investigation of the case, since the child disappeared.

MASQUE DANCE FOR NURSES' ROOM

Old Fashioned Masquerade at St. Mary's Hall on Halloween for Furnishing Room for Nurses in Benedictine Hospital.
An old fashioned masquerade dance will be given at St. Mary's Hall on Wednesday evening, October 31—Halloween—the proceeds of which will be used for furnishing a room for nurses in the Benedictine Hospital. The dance will be given by the nurses of the Benedictine Hospital and already they have had a large advance sale of tickets for what promises to be one of the most attractive social affairs of the autumn.

The nurses of the Benedictine Hospital decided some time ago to furnish a room for their own use in the hospital, and with the building of the new addition the desirability became more apparent of having such a room, properly equipped, conforming to the rest of the institution. The new addition will require additional nurses to care for the large number of patients which the hospital will be able to accommodate, and it is desired that the nurses' room, which will be for their own use exclusively, shall furnish for the nurses all the accommodations which their own boudoirs would afford.

The esprit de corps among the nurses of the Benedictine Hospital has been one of the elements contributing to the successful organization and growth of the hospital since it was erected, and the staff of nurses had become recognized as one of the most efficient of any institution in the state. There never has been so great a demand and such opportunities for nurses as at the present time, the field for graduate nurses, including institutional work, such as superintendent or head of the various departments of a hospital; public health work, such as visiting nurse, industrial nurse, etc.; private duty, Red Cross work, etc.

Anticipating that the Benedictine Hospital in the near future will be called on to furnish training for the additional number of young women who are about to enter the profession in response to the demand for nurses, the nursing staff of the Benedictine is preparing an additional attraction in the form of a completely equipped nurses' room, the success of which to a large extent will depend on the response by the people of Kingston to the opportunity of attending their masquerade dance on Halloween.

Tickets for the Halloween masquerade dance may be obtained from the nurses of the Benedictine Hospital or at the hospital.
Music for dancing will be furnished by Muller.

Society Notes

Jones-Grant.

On Thursday evening, October 25, at 8 o'clock, at the Wesleyan Methodist parsonage at Acorn Hill, Charles Jones and Miss Phoebe Grant of Chester were united in marriage by the Rev. George Seller. The best wishes of a host of friends are extended the newlyweds.

Schantz-Arolan.

Henry Schantz and Miss Mary E. Arolan, both of this city, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, October 20 at 4 o'clock at the bride's home, 9 Wood street in the presence of many friends by the Rev. A. Schmidt. The bride was attended by Miss Lillian Cathcart as bridesmaid and Carl D. Schantz a brother of the groom, as best man. Many beautiful presents were received by the young couple including checks, gold pieces, silver and cut glass. After a short honeymoon tour of points south, the young couple will reside in their newly furnished home, 76 Grand street, and later will move to their own newly built home at 122 Andrew street.

Three Birthdays Celebrated.
Hugh McCullough celebrated his birthday at his home, No. 98 Spring street on Friday. An unusual feature of the festivities was the fact that at the same time the birthday of his daughter, Margaret, six years old, and son, John, two years old, which occurred on the same day was also celebrated. The triple birthday party was attended only by relatives of the family, and had been arranged by Mrs. McCullough. During the evening dainty refreshments were served and an enjoyable time had by those present. It seldom happens that the birthday of a parent and two of his children all occur on the same date which made the triple birthday on Friday one that was out of the ordinary.

Odds and Ends

There will be an important meeting of the Parish Aid Society at St. John's parish house, Wall street, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Working plans for the chicken pie supper will be carried out.

YOUNG & ROBERTS GIVE ORDERS

The thousands of reputable, temperate men and women of Ulster county who do their own thinking and voting, should read carefully the report of the proceedings of the Young & Roberts "Republican" Club, printed in The Freeman. They will learn many things, especially from the address given by the junior member of the firm that organized and directs the club.

Among other things, they will learn that no person who does not obey the orders of Young & Roberts is a loyal American and that all who disobey are bootleggers.

From the address of the lady from New Jersey they will learn that it is highly reprehensible for a lady to cease lying, even temporarily, when threatened with punishment.

They will also learn that it is not "decent" to vote for the nominee of one's party and that to exact from those holding office in the party loyalty to the party's nominees is un-American.

From Mr. Weaver they will learn that for a Republican to solicit Democratic votes is disloyal and from another lady who spoke they will learn that courtesy by members of election boards is a surprising thing, as surprising as the vote of some of the people who live along the water front in Esopus, considering "the quality of their citizenship."

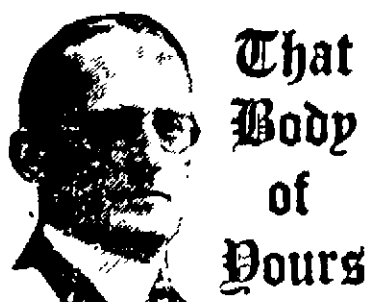

From one of the speakers the sane women of Ulster county may learn also that "a woman can always find time for one more thing" and can, if she only thinks so, find time to go to the polls, exercise her right to vote as she pleases, and rebuke the impudent attempt by Young & Roberts to control the votes of all the women and men in the county.

It is with diffidence that The Freeman speaks of the candidacy of Peter Spitz, who has been nominated by the Republican party in the Eighth Ward for supervisor. The diffidence is not due to any lack of qualification but instead is due entirely to uncertainty of where to begin. Mr. Spitz, as almost everybody knows, is foreman of the job printing department of The Freeman, and has occupied that position for a number of years. If Mr. Spitz could be elected by the votes of the men and women connected with The Freeman, his election would be unanimous. Everyone in this office would vote for him because we know him, we know his qualifications, his ability, his honesty, his sound common sense and every other quality which should be considered in a candidate for office. Everyone who has had business dealings with the department of The Freeman over which Mr. Spitz presides would also vote for him if they could. That may be a broad statement, but it is true. To those who may not know Mr. Spitz, these facts may well be considered in determining who they want as their supervisor, provided they live in the Eighth Ward.

William A. Bilyou's record in public affairs is the strongest kind of recommendation to the voters of the Fifth Ward to elect him supervisor, for which office he has been nominated by the Republican party. Mr. Bilyou for many years has been identified with civic affairs and has rendered faithful, efficient and satisfactory service in the common council. His experience there furnished him with thorough knowledge of the needs of the city and the county, because the relations of city and county are very close. His activity in business has been of great value in forming judgment in important matters affecting the public. His record for clean and efficient government is the strongest guarantee of a continuance of satisfactory public service, and in voting for him for supervisor, the voters of the Fifth Ward will show that they are in favor of faithfulness and efficiency in their representative in the board of supervisors.

Experience has demonstrated for many years the necessity of the city of Kingston having able representatives in the board of supervisors, and in the renomination of Harry A. Tremper as supervisor of the Ninth Ward, the Republican party of that ward has again set its stamp of approval on this excellent policy. During the two years which he has served in the board of supervisors, Mr. Tremper has made a record to which the voters of the Ninth Ward as well as the voters of the city can point with pride. Associated with important business affairs for many years, Mr. Tremper has gained wide experience which is very necessary in one of the city's representatives in the county legislature. Confidence in him never has been misplaced, either by individuals or the voters of his ward, and in all matters he has displayed ability of high order. Bearing in mind the importance of such representation, the voters of the Ninth Ward should give Mr. Tremper a big majority on election day.

SPINDLES.
A physician with a patient striped before him for examination, suggested that the latter should not tell him his occupation, but allow him to guess.

Well, said the physician, you ride a great deal in your motor car, do you not?

No, the patient replied, I don't own a car, and seldom ride in one.

The doctor said, "I'm beaten, what's your occupation?"

Why I'm a tailor and have worked at it for nearly thirty years.

The physician laughed, and said, "I figured that you sat a great deal and used your legs very little, because your abdomen is protruding and your legs are almost like spindles."

Anyone familiar with the crossed legged posture of the tailor as he works can understand just what would happen to his body, with that kind of work and no other.

And what's the lesson?

Simply that we ride so much and sit so much that we are changing our shape.

If we are not careful we are going to look like the pictures in the children's books, of men with large abdomens, and tiny arms and legs. Now the motor car is here to stay, the elevator also, and every other labor-saving device. We cannot go backward. The pleasure of motoring will never really die out, but that body of yours was not intended to use automobiles, elevators, and so forth all the time. Your bones and muscles are huge and were meant to work. You were given a stomach, intestines, lungs and heart capable of great effort.

You were presented with an appetite that would encourage you to take on board the necessary amount of food to supply these muscles and bones. It would appear that with the variety and excellent cooking of food you are retaining your appetite and yet not using your body.

Now you'll not give up your motor car. It is not a luxury now, it is a necessity. So if you are wise you'll make sure of taking a walk of a mile or two every day.

If you can't take a walk, you can raise your toes, fifteen times, sit or squat fifteen times night and morning. This will keep your legs from becoming spindles. This, with a few bending exercises for your abdomen will prevent you from ever resembling the pictures in the children's books.

Curious Musical Instrument.

The ordinary hand saw has appeared as a musical instrument. One seeker after novelties uses a saw as a violin. After long experiment and untiring practice he has actually succeeded in getting an agreeable music from the tool.

He holds the saw handle between his legs, holds the tip of the saw in the other hand and works the usual violin bow with the other. The vibrating steel blade emits soft, appealing notes, the pitch of which is varied by changing the curvature of the blade. All sorts of queer effects can be got by adept manipulation of the blade. Sometimes the music resembles the human voice; again it has the weird wail of the Hawaiian ukulele.

Celluloid Eyes.

By the use of celluloid eyes the blind may be made to see, is the claim made by Professor Katz of the government hospital in Petrograd. It is necessary for the success of the operation that the light-perception nerves shall be intact, as is the case in 50 per cent of cases of blindness. Professor Katz' operation consists in cutting away the withered front part of the eye, setting in the socket a celluloid cup, and allowing the light-perception nerves at the back of the eye to function through this cup. Professor Katz states that he is working on an optophone, by means of which light may be transformed into sound when a patient's optic nerves are dead.

Ethical Pathway.

Man may not exactly love his enemies. He has only got far enough along the ethical pathway to make them profitable.

Garlic Cause of Big Wheat Loss

Makers of Flour Discriminate Against Product Containing It.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Wheat containing the bulblets of garlic or wild onion is discriminated against by millers and often is sold at a price ranging from 20 to 50 per cent lower than No. 2 Soft Red Winter, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. The farmer in the Atlantic coast region from Massachusetts to Georgia and as far inland as Missouri, where garlic is prevalent, harvests the garlic bulblets with his wheat. These are about the size and shape of wheat grains, and the two are difficult to separate, so that wheat containing them can be sold only at a discount. Bread made from garlicky flour, especially if eaten warm, has a pronounced odor and garlicky flavor. The money loss from garlic runs into millions of dollars annually.

Damage and Loss.

A survey made by the department of the damage and loss resulting from this weed in the state of Maryland and part of Pennsylvania where it is particularly bad, shows that practically all wheat produced in Maryland is infested with garlic. Garlicky wheat has a decidedly lower milling value than wheat free from garlic, due to the greater risk from spoilage, to extra cleaning or preparation required for milling, to the lower flour yields obtained, to the greater cost of manufacture, and to the lower market value of the flour product. Discounts for flour made from garlicky wheat vary from 25 cents to $1 a barrel.

Bulblets Sown Each Year.

Methods of eradication through readily applicable cultural practices suggested by the department have proved to be successful wherever employed, yet the survey shows that large quantities of the bulblets are being sown each year, through failure to get clean seed or through a failure to realize the extent of infestation in the seed being sown. Estimates made from samples taken from grain drills in the Maryland fields in the fall of 1921, show that as high as 200,000 bulblets to the acre were sown with the wheat in one case, the minimum being around 3,000 per acre. Nearly every farmer interviewed admitted that there was a small amount of garlic in his wheat, but frequently this small amount upon analysis proved to be 50 or more bulblets for each pound of wheat.

Killing Potato Bugs by Using Arsenate of Lead

Arsenate of lead is one of the best poisons to use, and for a liquid spray should be mixed at the rate of 1.5 pounds of powdered arsenate of lead to 50 gallons of water. In small amounts one-half ounce or one heaping tablespoonful to a gallon of water gives the same strength. A little water should first be added to the powder and stirred until it makes a thin smooth paste. This paste can then be stirred into the required amount of water and the solution is ready for use.

With a good duster or dust gun a mixture of one part powdered arsenate of lead and fifteen parts of air-slaked or hydrated lime will be quite effective in killing the beetles.

A mixture of one part of paris green to twenty parts of lime is also effective. If no duster is available the mixture can be applied by shaking it on the plants through a cheese-cloth bag. The dust sticks to the plants better if applied when the dew is on. —E. M. Page, Missouri Experiment Station.

Pasturing Sweet Clover to Prevent Woodiness

Sweet clover has been condemned by many because it grows too rank and becomes so woody that stock will not eat it. This is true if it is not pastured heavily enough to keep it down. But if enough animals are kept on it so that it does not get more than nine or ten inches high, new shoots will be produced continuously which will be tender and palatable. If enough stock is not available to keep the sweet clover at the proper height, part of it should be mowed for hay, say the agronomists of the Nebraska Agricultural college. It should be mowed high enough (leave stubble at least eight inches tall) so that plenty of live buds are left on the side of the stems to produce a new crop. Unlike alfalfa, it does not send up new shoots from the crown after it has attained considerable growth the second year.

Refilling Small Silos

When Somewhat Empty

Farmers with small silos, who cannot store enough silage to run them all winter, can make their supply last longer if they will cut their corn, shock it, and when the silo becomes somewhat empty refill with the shocked corn. This kind of silage is better feed than the shocked corn direct from the field although it is not as good as the silage that was put into the silo when the corn was at the right age. It has been found that placing new silage on the old will not hurt either, provided there is no moldy silage on the surface of the old silage.

Not Always a Simple Question.

"Why won't they let the telephone operator tell you the time of day?" "It would be unfair to everybody to make her run the chance of getting into one of these daylight-saving arguments."

Diamond Rings $15.00

The price does not tell you of the splendid value these rings really are.

The diamonds, though small, are bright little stones, and the ring of 18-Kt. White Gold is much more attractive than you would think possible for the price asked.

THANKS IN WRONG QUARTER

Little Marie Gave Altogether Undue Credit to the Dignified Head of the Flock.

A nursery governess tells of two children, once in her care, who never forgot to be polite.

An amusing feature of their walks was Willie's trouble with his overshoes. They were of a size out of all proportion to his feet, and hampered his movements greatly. He was continually taking headers, but was usually laughing when the governess picked him up. Then the little fellow would carefully brush the snow from the bottom of her skirt with his red mittens.

Marie, as well as Willie, showed the instinctive courtesy of a kind nature. She had impressed on her the propriety of thanking everyone who did her a kindness, and Marie always tried to comply. They had on one occasion talked of the various farm animals, and of how much we owed to them. At dinner Marie looked at her egg for some moments without eating it, and then slipped quietly from her chair.

"Where are you going?" she was asked.

"I am going to thank Mr. Rooster for laying me this nice egg," explained Marie.—Exchange.

Well After Ten Years' Suffering

Our daughter, Violet, was ill ten years with rheumatism. During her last attack, she was bedfast seven months suffering unspeakable pain. Medical doctors said her case was hopeless. We tried chiropractic and she experienced some relief after the first few adjustments. After four months of adjustments she was able to walk. This seemed a miracle to us.—William R. No Pain Like That of Rheumatism
Weekly Health Talk
By Froude & Mac Kinnon, D's. C.

The man or woman who suffers from chronic rheumatism knows the full meaning of pain. There are the hours and the days of continuous dull pain, broken only by the sharp spasms when the agony becomes so severe as to be almost unendurable.

When chiropractic spinal adjustments are given, normal nerve action is restored and disease disappears. The chiropractic spinal adjustment for all forms of rheumatism is for the kidneys, in combination with local adjustments to normalize the nerves leading to the affected parts. The chiropractor brings the rheumatic patient back to health, by eliminating the cause.

The Kingdom of Heaven Is At Hand!

Millions Now Living Will Never Die

Millions of Christians down through the Gospel Age have prayed "Thy Kingdom Come" but few indeed have had understanding regarding what the coming of that Kingdom will mean to the world of mankind who have been groaning and traveling therefor. In this enlightened day, when "the path of the just" is becoming brighter and brighter, a clearer understanding of the matter can be had by those who have an "ear to hear."

DOUGLAS McLEAN in "SUNSHINE TRAIL"

MRS. CONNELLY'S
PAPER ON BULBS

The paper of Mrs. Daniel Connelly on "Bulbs" read at the last seasonal meeting of the Society of Little Gardeners Thursday afternoon was as follows:

A bulb is a thickened, fleshy bud usually underground, generally emitting roots from its under side. The function of the bud is to carry the plant over an unpropitious season, as over winter.

True bulbs are either formed in rings or layers (like those of hyacinths and onions) or scaly (like those of lilliums) but as popularly understood applies to a large class of ornamental plants in their dormant condition. This class includes in addition to the true bulbs many that are botanically known as, first, corms (which are solid as crocus) and gladioli, tubers; second (which are succulent and have the buds or eyes on the surface, as the dahlias and potatoes); third, rhizomes (fleshy, creeping underground stems like certain lilies, also fourth, pip (the flowering crown of the lily of the valley); and fifth, certain other dormant, fleshy roots, like those of peonies.

The true or feeding roots grow generally from the base of the bulb, the stem, flowers and foliage from the crown of the bulb or the eyes. There is an exception to this in certain lilies, which throw out roots above the bulb also (the Easter lily). The bulb is then both below and above the bulb.

The bulb is a storehouse for the plant wherein is formed after flowering new stems, leaves and flowers. In fact the bulb contains a new plant which is protected and sustained within the bulb by the reserve food and energy collected therein during one season for the plant's successor. After the flowering period the plant above the bulb and the roots beneath it ripen off and die away. The bulb is then in a dormant condition.

There is a particular charm and interest in growing bulbs flowering plants. As a rule they produce flowers of remarkable beauty, unsurpassed by any other class of plants and many of them are deliciously fragrant. In March or earlier, spring is ushered in with the blooming of snow drops, anemones, scillas, crocus, winter aconites, etc., followed in April with brilliant hyacinths, tulips, narcissus and hosts of others. In April appear the unapproachable late tulips, peonies, daffodils, dicentra, etc., followed in succession until frost, notably with peonies, lilies, hemerocallis, lilies, tritomas, etc.

Cardenones usually think of bulbs as divided in two classes, hardy and tender—or those which stand freezing and those which do not. Hardy spring bulbs may be used in four different ways: 1. In design bedding; 2. in the mixed flower border; 3. in the lawn; 4. in the house.

Design bedding. The only bulbs adapted for geometrical beds are daffodils and tulips. It is not best to use both in the same bed. For really fine effects, one solid, bright, contrasting color should be used. In ordering bulbs for this style of bedding it is important to select kinds that bloom at the same time and are of uniform height. The bulb catalogues give this information or deal with a reliable firm and leave the selection to them. In planting bulbs in "design beds," it pays for the extra trouble to first remove the soil to a depth of six inches, spread up the lower soil, using well rotted manure and plenty of bone dust worked in. Then level off smooth and cover with an inch of sand. This prevents the manure from touching the bulbs, allows the water to drain away from immediate contact with them, thus removing causes which may lead to their decay. Bulbs set in this manner on the lawn may be placed in their exact position after which the top soil is carefully replaced.

Second Use. In the mixed flower border. The mixed border is a favorite place for most hardy bulbs. They should be planted in little colonies here and there among the hardy plants and shrubs, and it is here that bulbs seem to thrive and give the most pleasure.

the embryo, flowers were formed within the bulb the season before. Just their size, luxuriance and brilliancy this season depend largely upon the nutrition the roots receive. Liberal applications of manure water when the bulbs are in bud often produce excellent results. Hardy spring flowering bulbs are best planted about the middle of October here in New York, but can be planted later if the bulbs are still sound.

The proper depth to plant bulbs varies according to the kinds. Hyacinths, tulips, narcissus and similar large bulbs, four to six inches. Smaller bulbs somewhat shallower. Hardy bulbs root during the fall and early winter and if planted too near the surface the freezing and thawing of the upper crust of the soil in mild winters often cause the bulbs to break from their roots and in consequence only inferior flowers are produced. After real winter weather has set in and a light crust has been frozen on the soil (generally about the first week in December in our section) cover the bed with leaves, straw or similar material to a depth of four to six inches (both coverings you notice are of the same depth in the soil, first then the litter almost two months later) each four to six inches. This protects not only from freezing but from equally injurious unseasonable thaws. Do not put the covering on too early for it might warm the soil so that the bulbs would commence to grow and afterward be injured from freezing. Gradually remove the covering in the spring toward the latter part of March.

Most biennial plants thrive in a loamy, somewhat sandy soil. If the soil is cold and stiff, leafmold and sand should be added. The texture of the soil should be such that stagnant water will not remain around the bulbs as it tends to rot them, particularly when dormant.

The treatment of the bulbs after flowering is important if the bulb is to be used again for it must never be forgotten that the flowers and resources for the next season are gathered within the bulb after blooming through the agency of the roots and foliage. Imperfectly developed and matured foliage this year means poor flowers or none at all next year so it is best to leave the bulbs alone until the leaves have died down. When summer bedding plants are to be substituted it is sometimes necessary to remove bulbs before ripe. In such places the bulbs should be carefully taken up with a spade. Disturb the roots as little as possible and do not cut or crush the leaves. Heel in the plants in a shallow trench in some half shady out of the way place until ripe.

Summer and Autumn Flowering Bulbs. This tender class is of the easiest possible culture, simply planted in the spring after danger of frost is over. After flowering and ripening of the foliage they should be taken up and stored for the winter.

Fourth Use of Bulbs—In the house. The first essential for success with bulbs for winter flowering in the house is to secure good bulbs. Why? The flowers were formed within the bulb in previous seasons. The second important essential is perfect root development before the top begins to grow. Failure to do this is responsible for 9-10 of the disappointments. When hardy bulbs are to be grown in pots for winter blooming in the house, the bulbs should be potted as soon as they are procurable between August and November. The soil should be rich loam. Pure bonemeal one part to fifty of soil makes a good fertilizer. The size of pots depends upon the kinds of bulbs. A five inch pot is best for a first sized hyacinth, or large bulbous narcissus. Tulips, small narcissus and bulbs of similar size can go into a four inch pot, but it is better to put three or more of one variety together in a larger pot as the soil retains a more even temperature and moisture. Earthen bulb pans which come 8 to 18 inches in diameter are excellent for this purpose. Fill the pot or pan with soil, shake it down but do not pack it. Neither must the bulb be pressed or screwed into the soil so the soil will be packed under it so that when the roots start they often raise the bulb out of the pot. Plant the bulb just deep enough so that its top will not show (compare depth) When planting mixed bulbs in the same pot or pan the soil should be taken to plant varieties that will flower at the same time. Do not water them unless the soil is very dry. After the bulbs are potted place them in a cool cellar or root-cold frame if you have one. This is the most important detail in flowering bulbs under artificial conditions. Cover the pots with 4 inches of sand, ashes, rotted leaves or similar substance. A very desirable out of door method for rooting is the following: Dig a trench a foot deep in the garden where water will not settle on it, and is protected from the north and west exposure. Three inches of coal ashes are first placed in the trench to allow drainage and keep the worms out. The pots are then placed on the ashes. The earth is filled in about the pots filling the trench rounding over. Root development now takes place while it is too cool for top growth. When the weather gets cold enough to freeze a crust on the soil an additional covering of about four inches of leaves or straw should be put over.

Some early bulbs as Roman hyacinths and Paper White Narcissus, will root sufficiently in five or six weeks to be taken up for first flowers which should be about Christmas or earlier but it is safer to allow bulbs not less than two months for rooting. Every two weeks after the first removal of pots further relays of rooted bulbs may be taken out for a continuous display of bloom. After rooting place the plot in a cool light place not over 50° in temperature for the stems and foliage to develop. Next place them in a warm sunny window to flower.

Proper temperatures for development are: 40° for roots. 50° for best flowers. The flowering of bulbs in glasses or bowls of water is always interesting. Among the most successful so treated are hyacinth, Jacobaea lily, narcissus, early single tulips, Roman hyacinth, mammoth yellow crocus and Chinese sacred lily. These must be, however, healthy bulbs of the

AMERICAN PROSPERITY TODAY
DEPENDS ON INDIVIDUAL THRIFT

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift

Contact with conditions in Europe emphasizes above everything else the stabilizing value of thrift to a nation.

In America, happily, we are not confronted by many of the problems that are demanding solution across the sea.

Ultimate national progress must depend on the favorable economic status of the individual. In this fact lies the priceless value of thrift to the nation because thrift results in personal economic improvement, thus fostering a contented and happy citizenship.

Our schools, churches, banks and all other institutions which are today seeking the development of more intensive thrift practices in the United States are going straight to the heart of humanity's gravest problem. Each individual who adopts a routine of systematic thrift becomes an added unit of defense against the encroachment of those fanatical systems which have for their object the overthrowing of the present established order of civilized progress.

Practice thrift, preach thrift, teach thrift and you will be doing more than would otherwise be possible to safeguard the future stability of our nation.

No fair minded man can be pessimistic over conditions and tendencies in this country, yet the fact remains that, with so many disturbing factors abroad, we should with all the greater diligence see that the foundations of our country are secure.

This means more savings bank depositors, more home-owners, more intelligent investors, more school children in the school savings banks, more building and loan association members; more teachers, preachers, newspapers and magazines developing an intensive and practical appreciation of thrift.

The stability of our present social system is based on individual thrift. We need have no fear of Bolshevism, communism or any other kindred destructive system if we keep this fact well in mind at all times and apply it persistently.

EDDYVILLE.

Eddyville, Oct. 27.—William McNamee and bride returned to their beautiful home on Cutler Hill from their honeymoon trip Thursday afternoon. News of the arrival of the newlyweds spread quickly and many friends and neighbors gathered at the home of James O'Brien and marched noisily on the couple. Every kind of noise making device was used in the serenade. All march-

BOGART CHAIRMAN FOR SCOUT DRIVE

Which Begins November 18—$12,000 to be Sought in County—Advisory Committee Named—Scouts to Take Prominent Part.

A group of citizens interested in the continuance of Boy Scout work in Ulster county met Friday evening in the office of Ward B. Everett, No. 210 Fair street, and discussed with Scout Executive Nesslage and Scout Commissioner Gordon plans for putting on a campaign next month to provide the necessary funds. Arthur A. Bogart, president of the county executive committee, presided and those present were: Matthew H. Messing, Dr. Frederick Snyder, Louis Coe, Ward B. Everett, E. H. Bogart, Carlton S. Preston, the Rev. Dr. F. B. Seelye, Judge Fowler, Mr. Lester and Chief of Police Wood of this city, Prof. Spink of Phoenixia, Prof. Bennett of New Paltz and Walter Hasbrouck of Highland.

Mr. Gordon, who is here from Boy Scout headquarters to aid in the campaign, explained the tentative plans and E. H. Bogart was elected chairman of the campaign committee. In addition to the usual committees and team captains it was decided to have an advisory committee made up of representative men from various groups and a partial list was made up as follows:

J. T. Johnson, Rotary Club; Samuel Messinger, Kiwanis Club; Charles Mullen, Elks; Max Reben, Chamber of Commerce; the Rev. Joseph D. Ostermann and the Rev. Ignatius J. Bladyka, Catholic Church; the Rev. Dr. Seelye and the Rev. William J. Nelson, Protestant Churches; Joseph M. Herbert, Board of Education; E. Frank Flanagan, Knights of Columbus; Emil Boesneck and George V. D. Hutton, manufacturing interests; Stanley Matthews, American Legion; Walter P. Crane, city government; Dr. Frederick Snyder and Dr. John R. Gillett, physicians; Everett Fowler, lawyers; Rabbi Rose of Temple Emanuel, Jewish Church; Millard H.

Davis of Kerhonkson, Farm Bureau and Dairymen's League; Mr. Van Voorhis and R. Overbagh, Saugerties; A. B. Bennett, New Paltz; Walter Hasbrouck, Highland; Dr. Thayer and Mr. Sprague, Ellenville; Prof. Spink, William Cruickshank and C. F. Simpson, Phoenixia; Fred Curo, Pine Hill.

Herbert Carl was chosen chairman of the prospect committee, Mr. Lester, of the Carhart Company, heads the publicity committee, Carlton Preston is in charge of troop demonstration work and A. J. Burns is chairman of the workers.

The opening dinner will be given on Tuesday evening, November 13, and the work will be done on the three following days. It is hoped to precede the campaign with a parade of Boy Scouts and of all boys over 12 years of age who would like to become Scouts on Saturday, November 10, and the Scouts are expected to take part in other and even more spectacular ways while the campaign is in progress.

Snuggerties has already organized for the campaign and promised to raise a quota of at least $1,600.

The total to be raised in the county is $12,000, which will pay off indebtedness due to failure to raise enough money last year and provide funds sufficient for the coming year.

Moments of Misery.

One day when the nurse was examining the children of a certain school, I happened to be among the number who were to be weighed. We went into the office where the nurse was waiting. She kindly told us to remove our shoes so we would not have surplus weight. Upon removing my shoes I discovered a large hole in the heel of both stockings. You can imagine with what enjoyment I stood upon the scales amid the group of smiling onlookers.—Exchange.

A Firm Foundation.

"There is nobody who does not hold the Constitution in the deepest respect."

"True," replied Senator Sorghum. "Even those who never studied it very closely have to admit that it has been the basis of some mighty interesting and important amendments."

CONCRETE BLOCK FOR NEW GARAGE

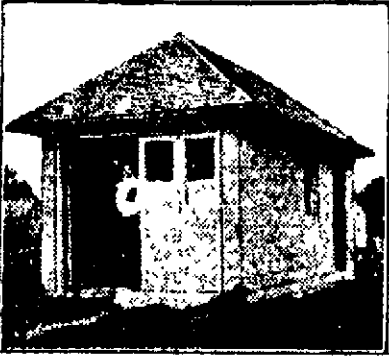

Convenient, Economical, Firesafe and Suitable for All Classes of Structures.

The amount of money invested in even the lowest priced automobile justifies a substantial garage that will give the required protection against weather, theft and fire.

With a garage on the home grounds the owner has his car always within reach and where he can use his spare time in keeping it clean and in good running order. He also has a place to keep oil, spare tires and other car supplies. With the car near the house there will be less danger from fire, tampering and pilfering as it is always under the owner's eye.

Suitable and Practical. Wherever possible the material used in the walls and roof of the garage should be the same as that of the house. Concrete block are suitable and practical for all classes of garages from the small building, such as is shown in the illustration, to the types with separate rooms for several cars, such as are built for the accommodation of car owners living in apartment houses. The block may be finished in stucco to harmonize with the house by the addition in cement mix of color to produce the desired tint.

An essential feature of garage design is wide eaves or overhang, which serves as a protection to the owner from rain or dripping water when locking the doors during wet weather. A door at the side will be found convenient for use when the car is not to be taken out.

Garages are often heated from the house plant, although there are many small inexpensive garage heaters which give perfect satisfaction. A flue for separate heating in one of the floor plans may be easily included in the building.

Special care should be given to the selection of the hardware for supporting and operating the large movable doors. Doors that stick and bind are a nuisance and an extra $10 spent on good hardware will more than repay the owner in comfort and convenience.

Allow for Working Space. A garage should be built to allow for plenty of working space about the car, and even though the owner's car be of the smaller type, it is good economy to build a garage to accommodate a large car, thus anticipating future needs.

Built of concrete block, finished in stucco, a garage is practically permanent. Expense from repairs, painting, and insurance is reduced to a minimum and the car owner is assured that his car has maximum protection.

STICKING OF CONE CLUTCH

Usually the Result of Worn Facing—New Leather Should Remedy the Trouble.

The sticking of a cone clutch may be due to a tendency of the clutch member to fit too snugly in the cone part of the flywheel. This is usually the result of worn facing of the clutch member, caused, in turn, by burning the facing through a habit of slipping the clutch. A new leather facing should remedy the trouble and a handy temporary solution is to wedge broken pieces of a hack-saw blade between the facing and the clutch member at several points on its circumference. This will often smooth out a rough and sticking cone clutch.

TROLLEY CAR CANNOT CHANGE ITS COURSE

Dangerous Practice to Follow Street Cars Too Closely—Keep Twelve Feet Away.

(By ERWIN GREER, President Greer College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago.)

Accidents in which automobiles figure with trolley cars are not the most uncommon on the list and there are several little points that if followed by the auto driver will lessen such accidents. One of the principal things to keep in mind is that a trolley car runs on tracks and consequently cannot change its course, so that it is up to the motor car pilot to watch out for trolleys, rather than for the motor-man to watch out for automobiles.

Every day we see automobiles closely following street cars on the rails. This is a very dangerous practice, for the auto driver has no means of knowing what instant the motor-man may jam on his brakes, and in such a case it is almost impossible to avoid a collision. Then there is the auto driver who fails to take into consideration the fact that trolley cars are likely to turn off at corners where tracks intersect, and thus at times the motorist finds himself jammed between the trolley and the curb. Also the driver often fails to figure that when a street car turns away from him on a curve the rear end is bound to swing out several feet beyond the tracks.

To be safe a driver should always stop his auto at least twelve feet behind a standing street car, and in no case should he take dangerous chances crowding in between a trolley and the curb. Also drivers should never attempt to pass a street car moving in the same direction, on the left side, but this is a practice that is common in many cities.

BEWARE OF THE "ROAD LIFT"

Prudence in City or Elsewhere Says That It Shall Neither Be Offered or Accepted.

The lift on the road is an old act of kindness. Decent people in settled orderly places offered it because they were amiable and wanted to help another person along the way; but prudence in a city, or elsewhere for that matter, says that it shall neither be offered nor accepted nowadays.

A good deal of crime is on wheels, says the Chicago Tribune. Criminals are scouting the street and the country roads. The people they pick up are virtually helpless. Contrariwise, the man in a car who yields to a request for a ride may find a gun at his head in short order. The good Samaritan may go to the hospital in a barrel. It is the ugly necessity of city life to regard a stranger as a potential enemy. It need not result in discourtesy, but it says keep your guard up. Credulity often leads to an empty pocketbook and a black eye, or, in the case of a woman, to worse.

TUBE REPAIR KIT ESSENTIAL

One of the Most Important Accessories for Every Motorist to Carry in His Machine.

Probably one of the most important accessories for every motorist to have in his car is a tube repair kit. It is very much like life insurance, in that it is no good at all until needed. When it is needed it is indispensable. This fact is particularly true when tires are punctured many miles from any repair station. Considering the kit's small cost tire men say it is the cheapest insurance possible against country road delays and expense.

AUTOMOBILE GOSSIP

A tire with low air pressure creates friction and causes the car to slow up.

A rigid shaft will bind unless the alignment is perfect and provision is made to prevent frame deflection.

DEATH ALMOST WON IN THIS RACE

This photograph, caught of an engine and an automobile while both were going at high speed, shows that the auto driver who tries to beat the train to a crossing generally ends up in a hospital or undertaker's. Death was prevented from taking its usual toll when the motorist saw his error just in time. He swung his car up a steep bank, almost overturning it, and was able by a few feet to avoid a crash.

Use FREEMAN advertising regularly and conservatively and results will surely follow.

How to Cook and Serve Macaroni and Spaghetti

MACARONI and spaghetti, differing only in appearance, are not only healthful and economical but are also easy to prepare and can be made into many appetizing dishes. They contain both starch and gluten, heat-producing and tissue-building agents in food, and dietitians agree that they are easily digested.

The secret of preparing macaroni and combining it with other foods is to cook it properly. The right way is the simplest. Drop the macaroni into boiling water and cook until every piece is tender. Use plenty of salt in the water. One tablespoonful to the quart is correct. When the macaroni is tender remove it from the fire and thoroughly drain. The water should be saved as it is valuable in the preparation of soups. Here are some delightful ways to combine with other foods and serve:

MACARONI OR SPAGHETTI (Italian Style)

Sauce
Legs, wings and neck of roasting chicken.
1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms
3 small red bell peppers
1 can ripe tomatoes
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup grated (Roman or Parmesan) cheese
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon butter
Dash of hot pepper (ground)
1 tablespoon chopped parsley.
Sauce chicken with oil in a deep saucepan (aluminum) for 20 minutes. Add parsley, garlic, salt, pepper and mushrooms. Cover tightly and cook slowly until mushrooms are lightly browned. Remove garlic. Add tomatoes. Cook over slow fire for 1 1/2 hours. Stir occasionally, keep cover on vessel. A little boiling water may be added if sauce is too thick—add butter before serving.

Cook 1 lb. macaroni or spaghetti in boiling salted water 12 to 15 minutes or until tender. Drain. Place macaroni or spaghetti on large platter. Add half sauce and half cheese and mix thoroughly. Add remainder of sauce and cheese. Serve at once. This recipe will serve from 6 to 8 persons.

Instead of chicken, the end piece of sirloin steak or 3/4 lb. round steak. The round steak may be ground and made into balls.

A BAKED DINNER

1/2 pkg. boiled macaroni
1/2 lb. chopped round steak
1 mixed onion
Salt and Pepper
8 potatoes
1 cup tomatoes
Butter
Paprika
Take round steak, season well with onion, salt and pepper, peel and slice potatoes, then pack dinner in covered vessel as follows: In center mould the meat, surround with macaroni, sprinkle well with paprika, and pour a cupful of canned tomatoes over, then surround this with potatoes, season these and dot with butter, then cook in fireless or bake in casserole.

SPAGHETTI AND EGGS

2 hard boiled eggs
1/2 lb. spaghetti
Bread crumbs
Seasoning
Butter
Milk
Empty a small size can of condensed tomato soup into a saucepan and without adding any water let it come to a boil, add grated cheese, a lump of butter or a couple of slices of bacon fried crisp and chopped fine. Add the spaghetti, mix together and serve hot.—From Domestic Service Department, Washburn-Crosby Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

Chop eggs fine, mix with boiled spaghetti, season and place in baking dish. Cover with thin layer of butter, bread crumbs, and milk, and bake until brown.

MACARONI AU GRATIN

3 cups boiled macaroni
1 cup white sauce
1 cup grated cheese
Salt, pepper and paprika
Put cooked macaroni into buttered baking dish, pour the white sauce over the macaroni, dust with the salt, pepper, paprika, add grated cheese and bread crumbs, cover, and bake 20 minutes, uncover and bake until a light brown.

SPAGHETTI WITH TOMATO SOUP

1/2 pkg. cooked spaghetti
1 small can tomato soup
1/2 lb. grated cheese
Lump of Butter
4 slices bacon
Empty a small size can of condensed tomato soup into a saucepan and without adding any water let it come to a boil, add grated cheese, a lump of butter or a couple of slices of bacon fried crisp and chopped fine. Add the spaghetti, mix together and serve hot.—From Domestic Service Department, Washburn-Crosby Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

Here's Proof That Advertising Pays

Famous Wrigley Building in Chicago Being Doubled in Size

The part of the Wrigley Building erected two years ago has filled such a want that the north section, nearly double the floor area of the south section, is being added.

This north section, nearly completed, occupies the entire block, immediately across North Water Street, fronting on Michigan Avenue and reaching to the height of the main part of the first structure, with a connecting bridge. The space in the new section is already nearly all taken by high-class firms in advance of the completion of the building.

Here is a concrete (as well as a steel and glass) proof of the saying that "advertising pays." In these magnificent buildings Mr. Wrigley has erected an impressive testimonial to this great truth. They loom large and beautiful. They typify the achievements of the man who built them. They stand as a monitor over the activity of the Nation's second city—inspiring—dominating—massive—bearing unanswerable testimony to the POWER OF ADVERTISING.

Camp and Dobie Differ

Walter Camp admits there is no difference in football as played by Eastern and Western collegiate eleven.

Gilmore Dobie, Cornell coach, who has handled teams in both sections long enough to make his opinions worth while, says there is.

After all, it is a matter of opinion, so it appears.

PETCOFF IS CAPTAIN OF OHIO STATE TEAM

Leader of Buckeye Eleven Is Tower of Strength.

Seventeen years ago a six-year-old lad arrived in the land of football, "All-American" selections and college rivalries with his parents from Bulgaria. Today the young man, Boni Petcoff, is captain of Ohio State's football eleven.

After their arrival the family drifted to Toledo, O. Plugging against odds, the lad made his way. He won a place for himself on the Walte high school football team.

Entering Ohio State, he was looked upon as a promising candidate for the eleven. As expected, he made his first football "O" as a sophomore. By reason of the presence of such stars as former Captain Huffman, Trott and Spivey in the regular lineup, however, Boni served chiefly in 1921 as a utility lineman.

Captain Boni Petcoff.

A year ago he seemed a bit of a "stranger." When he did "arrive," however, he came with a rush. He literally dove his way to fame at Illinois in the last game of the season, a contest in which he time and again stopped plays five yards behind the line of scrimmage.

That Illinois game was Ohio State's lone Big Ten victory a year ago. Upon his arrival at Columbus to begin training for the impending season, Petcoff's sole promise was that the spirit which brought a victory in the Illinois game a year ago would mark the 1923 Buckeye eleven throughout the season. Boni reported down to fighting weight, 235 pounds. He worked for Uncle Sam all summer, delivering mail.

Petcoff shines as a student as well as upon the football field. Like his two predecessors he is studying medicine. He is a linguist as well. As a member of the track team Petcoff shines with the discs.

Hinchman of Pittsburgh Tells Amusing Incident

Bill Hinchman, who acts as coach and scout for the Pirates, relates an amusing incident that took place not long ago in a small league. He had been assigned to peep at a southpaw pitcher.

Bill decided to keep his identity a secret, buy an admission ticket and "hide" in the stands. He found a seat in back of first base and soon became engaged in conversation with a wild fan sitting next to him.

This fan was full of conversation and volunteered a lot of information about various players on the team. Bill quickly spotted the player he wanted to watch.

Practice was on and Bill in a matter-of-fact voice turned to him and said, "Who's that southpaw warming up?"

The fan shot back an indignant glance. "Say, where have you been?" he cried. "Why, that's the best left-hander in this league. Every day there's a big league scout looking at him."

Pittsburgh's New Stadium to Seat 90,000 Persons

When the new University of Pittsburgh stadium is completed, it will accommodate 90,000 persons, 60,000 on the first level and 30,000 on the second, making the seating capacity greater by 20,000 than the stadium at Columbus, O. The stadium will not be ready for use until the 1924 season. Until it is turned over to the University Athletic association, the Panthers will continue to play at Forbes field, home of the Pirates.

One hundred and two deaths so far this year stand out in big red numerals. The number is changed each time a victim is added.

BASEBALL NOT THE ISSUE SAVES ALDERMAN JOY

Kingston, Oct. 26, 1923. Editor, The Freeman: Will you kindly print the following in your most valuable paper, in answer to my opponent's letter in last evening's issue:

Having served the people of the Sixth ward as their alderman the past two years, I believe they know that I would not resort to such low tactics as my opponent would have them believe to get their votes.

This statement is camouflage on his part, so that he can take a stand on Sunday baseball. The people of my ward know just where I stand. Baseball is not the issue. The real question before the voters is: "Do you want an alderman who will constantly look after your interests and the welfare of his ward at all times, or do you want a figurehead?"

As alderman of the Sixth ward, I have done my best to serve my constituents, irrespective of party, and if re-elected will continue to live up to my past record.

WILLIAM F. JOY, Democratic Candidate for Alderman.
